

FAASTeam presents:

Use of Flight Simulators for Pilot Training

Designed especially for pilots and professionals in the aviation insurance industry, the 60 minute program gives a brief overview on the usages allowed by the FAA of the various levels of "approved" flight simulators. Attendees should gain a working understanding of certification levels, associated terms, FARs, and approved usages for the three groups of Flight Simulation Training Devices. Attendees will be allowed to ask questions during the presentation to assist their understanding of the topic. Group size is limited.

Directions: ATRC is located on the corner of East Trinity Mills and Willowgate. This is about 500 feet east of Kelly Blvd which is a stop light street intersecting East Trinity Mills.
